development: within-model size response; task sets differ across curves Matched exposures; one nested subset/fraction; target remains largest